The task of this Indications Center, in support of the Committee, is the analysis of intelligence information from all sources to provide warning in contrast to warning provided mechanically through radar, spotters, and filter centers. For further support of the mission of the Watch Committee, there was issued on 30 November 1954 NSC Directive 5438 "Transmittal of Information to the IAC Watch Committee," which authorizes and directs appropriate departments and agencies of the Government to make fully available to the IAC Watch Committee all information and intelligence pertinent to its mission and functions."

"b. Communist China. Economic research effort and the flow of intelligence materials on Communist China have increased, resulting in a better appreciation of Chinese Communist productive capabilities and of Sino-Soviet economic relationships. The fact that production data were available to us before the Chinese Communists took over in 1949 facilitates the analysis of intelligence on China and of Communist statistical reports received since the Communist take-over. The output of the basic industries, such as electric power, iron and steel, is reasonably well-established. Further information and research are required to determine agricultural and handicraft output, chemical and munitions output, transportation capabilities, and overall per capita consumption.
